Developing a talent management support network for nurses and midwives

Nursing Management, 13th June 2023

This article describes the London TMSN team's experience of setting up and running the network. It also explains how nursing and midwifery managers and leaders can create a business case for the development of a similar network in their setting.

One-fifth of adults in England will have a major illness by 2040: a reflection for healthcare managers

British Journal of Healthcare Management Vol. 29, No. 8 pp.1-2

In July 2023, the Health Foundation released a report detailing predicted patterns of disease in England. The results of this analysis indicated that one in five adults will have a major illness by 2040, compared to one in six in 2019 (Watt et al, 2023)

It's not easy being green – a tool for choosing sustainable clinical products

Nursing Times; 119 (8) 2023

Understanding the impact of the care we deliver on our planet is critical in meeting NHS net-zero ambitions...

The effects of doctor strikes on patient outcomes: Evidence from the English NHS

Journal of Economic Behavior & Organization Vol 212, August 2023, Pages 689-707

In this paper, we study the impact of a nationwide hospital strike that took place in England in 2016, and temporarily reduced the availability of 'junior' doctors in all public hospitals.

Upscaling sustainability: nurse leadership key

Clinical services Journal, August 2023

A new 'Green Healthcare Leadership Programme' is driving change across the independent healthcare sector and beyond, by helping nurses to build the skills and confidence they need to deliver sustainable transformation.

Regulation of advanced practice in nursing

Clinical services Journal, 8th August 2023

Kate Woodhead RGN DMS discusses advanced nursing practice and the possibilities around future regulation, in light of proposals by the NMC

The use of locum doctors in the NHS – results of a national survey of NHS Trusts in England

BMC Health Services Research (2023) 23:889

We conducted a national survey of NHS Trusts in England to explore locum work, and better understand why and where locum doctors were needed; how locum doctors were engaged, supported, perceived and managed; and any changes being made in the way locums are used.

Competencies of the UK nursing and midwifery workforce to mainstream genomics in the National

Frontiers in Genetics, 14 June 2023

Health Service: the ongoing gap between perceived importance and confidence in genomics
This current study investigated the genomic competencies necessary for nurses and midwives to support mainstreaming genomics and their perception of the importance of genomics in the delivery of patient care within the NHS.

Unheard voices of staff

National Guardian, July 2023

This report on the latest survey of Freedom to Speak Up Guardians reinforces the point. "Speaking up is a gift", it says but it warns that "The benefits of Freedom to Speak Up can only be realised if leaders and board members are inquisitive about what is presented to them and are keen to embrace the learning".

A Comparative Study of Single and Multi-Stage Forecasting Algorithms for the Prediction of Electricity Consumption Using a UK-National Health Service \(NHS\) Hospital Dataset

Future Internet, April 2023 15 (4) 17p.

The aim is to see such techniques widely used in accurately predicting energy consumption, limiting the negative impacts of future waste on energy, and making a contribution towards the 2050 net zero carbon target.
